

CERIDIAN

2023 Executive Survey: The power of mobilizing the boundless workforce

Today's workforce is boundless: fluid, always on, and borderless. But not all organizations are ready to harness the full potential of this modern workforce – even though it could help save time, money, and top talent.

Ceridian's 2023 Executive Survey reveals that leaders are still grappling with pandemic workforce challenges while navigating new ones stemming from the current business climate. The result is a series of contradictions: layoffs amid labor shortages, overall optimism despite crucial workforce challenges, and investment in innovative talent solutions while overlooking foundational ones.

Download the report to learn:

- How your organisation's talent strategies compare to others around the globe
- How employers can optimise the boundless workforce – and why they need to start today
- Steps you can take to ignite organisational productivity and performance.